To Members of the Washington State Legislature

It is a pleasure to present the Ninety-First Annual Report of the Washington State Insurance Commissioner. This document covers official transactions and significant developments in the business of insurance as required by RCW 48.02.170.

The bulk of the activities and transactions overseen by the state Insurance Commissioner's Office for 1984 are outlined in the tables, and recapitulations on pages 1 through 214.

The activities of the Fire Marshal Division are outlined in narrative form on pages 9 through 17.

This report is compiled from a computerized data base and record keeping system provided through the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) office. Insurance company data is for the period from January 1, 1984 through December 31, 1984.

Sincerely,

Dick Marquardt

Dick Marquardt

THE WASHINGTON STATE FIRE INCIDENT REPORTING SYSTEM (WA-FIRS)

The Washington State Fire Incident Reporting System was launched in 1979. It was a pilot program with 46 participating fire departments, rural, urban, paid and volunteer, a cross-section of the fire protection effort in Washington in general. It was designed to gather statistical information about fires in Washington and to interface with the National Fire Incident Reporting System.

Since its beginning in 1979, the WA-FIRS program has grown to include over 267 fire departments. These departments provide fire protection for roughly 95 percent of Washington's residents.

Participating departments have submitted more than 75,000 reports for processing. Twenty-four thousand seven hundred thirty-eight of these reports were on fires causing approximately $82,305,898 in property damage, 49 deaths and 696 injuries. The information has also been used to spot trends, problem areas, arson patterns and other clues to help firefighters do their jobs better.

After processing, the fire report information is returned to each participating department and to county fire marshals. The information is also sent to the National Fire Data Center where it is analyzed along with similar reports from other states. The analysis helps firefighters determine if problems exist in their areas. Sometimes problems with building construction, manufacturing methods, or consumer's use of a product can be uncovered with this type of review.

In 1983 the Fire Marshal's Office, in coordination with the Washington Fire Chief's Association, began development of a software program that lets individual fire departments enter fire incident reports directly into microcomputers. This system was completed and implemented early in 1984. Washington was one of the first states in the country to develop such a system. The next step in this progression is to transmit this data by modem to the central receiving station in the Insurance Commissioner/State Fire Marshal's office. This transfer is scheduled to take place in 1985.

SUMMARY:

During 1984 over 75,000 Washington Fire Incident Reporting forms were processed. These reports show 24,738 fires causing approximately $82,305,898 in property damage. These fires caused 696 injuries and 49 deaths. 1984 gave us our fourth full year of WA-FIRS data and showed that we would have to continue to find more efficient ways of processing fire incident reports.

A joint project with the Washington State Association of Fire Chiefs was undertaken to develop a software program that would allow entry of Fire Incident Reports by individual fire departments using their microcomputers. This program was ultimately to be developed so data could be electronically transferred to the State Fire Marshal's office after it had been entered in the individual department's computers. 1984 saw more departments added to the list of departments complying with the reporting law by tape submittals mailed to the office.

1984 saw significant cleanup of the WA-FIRS program coupled with a personal commitment of the insurance commissioner's licensing staff. This commitment of time, energy and money bodes well for a program which already has the lowest error rate of any such program in the United States. The continuing problem of little time for analysis was experienced in 1984. It is our hope that more time can be spent on the analysis of the data than in the time consuming, but necessary, systems development work.

In 1984 there was a lot of activity regarding fireworks and fireworks legislation. The state lawmakers changed the 1982 law to a law that was closer to the old "Safe and Sane" fireworks law. In addition, enforcement measures were increased and local option to be more restrictive than the state law was permitted for cities, towns and counties. While the state fireworks law was clarified to represent the majority thinking of the legislature, the continual problem of no funding for enforcement was recognized by the office. In brief, any enforcement efforts were taken at the expense of other programs. 1984 saw the fireworks issue being debated in several courts in the state of Washington.

A special selected advisory committee, which started late in 1983, examined the question of grandfather clauses worked throughout the year 1984 with final recommendations to be presented in 1985. Some of the more significant findings of this special select advisory committee would have far reaching implications on hospitals and nursing homes, particularly those built prior to 1976.

At the close of 1984, that coincided with the drawing to a close of the two-year biennial budget, the on-going need for further staff became acute.

HEALTH CARE FACILITIES
FIRE PROTECTION DIVISION
ANNUAL REPORT JANUARY 1, 1984 THROUGH DECEMBER 31, 1984

It is the responsibility of the State Fire Marshal to adopt and enforce recognized standards for protection of life against fire and fire hazards in hospitals, nursing homes, boarding homes for the aged, private establishments (psychiatric hospitals, alcohol treatment facilities) childbirth centers, and residential treatment facilities for psychiatrically impaired children and youth.

State Fire Marshal approval of these facilities is a condition of annual licensing by the Department of Social and Health Services. Annual approval is also required for eligibility to participate in federally sponsored Medicare and Medicaid programs.

In addition to enforcement of fire protection regulations, Deputy State Fire Marshals counsel and advise on matters of fire protection. They also conduct educational and fire and life safety training for staff personnel in the facilities as time and funding permit.

During the year the staff and program continued to show progress as follows:

- Periodic staff meetings were held to compare and resolve fire problems.
- Personnel were continuously updated on the state of the art in fire protection. This is done by technical bulletins.
- Personnel were consulted for input in developing new inspection methods and new regulations.
- Greater emphasis continues on thoroughness of inspections and stricter enforcement, tempered with judgement and public education.
- Close liaison continues with all levels of state and federal governmental agencies involved.
- Training update for deputies:
    - Automatic halon extinguishing systems (3 deputies)
    - Fire safety evaluation system (3 deputies)
    - Life Safety Code - National Fire Protection Assoc. (2 deputies)
    - Life Safety Code - Federal provisions (1 deputy)
    - U.S. Department of Health and Human Service Orientation (1 deputy)

- During the year a total of 1,630 regular inspections of facilities were conducted. In addition, 115 special inspections which included investigations of fires, complaints and storm damage were conducted. There are 11 state licensing categories and 5 federal certification categories.

- Acceptance inspections resulted in 28 new facilities being state licensed and/or federally certified. This included one hospital, one nursing home, eleven boarding homes, four ambulatory surgical centers, four alcoholism centers, two hospices and one birthing center, and four adult residential treatment facilities.

  As the number of facilities continue to grow, additional manpower will become a requisite to keep pace with this growth.

- A total of 733 fire protection plan reviews for health care facilities was carried out. Of this number, 202 include fire protection systems. This represents a total increase of 156 projects.

- Because of insufficient manpower the pre-cover construction inspections of fire protection systems were discontinued. This, plus all other fire protection features in new construction is not accomplished until the final acceptance for licensing of new work. Only work that is not concealed can be approved.

The Fire Marshal's Office (under RCW 70.41, 18.51, 18.20 and 71.12) must make certain that all hospitals, nursing homes, boarding homes and private establishments serving the physically and mentally handicapped, and individuals suffering from drug or alcohol related conditions, meet minimum fire and life safety standards. To achieve this objective, the Division, under contract with the Department of Social and Health Services, conducts annual life safety code surveys in over 900 licensed facilities throughout the state. Facilities meeting the established life safety code and inspection approval are eligible for licensing and may also participate in federally sponsored Medicare and Medicaid programs.

STATE FIRE MARSHAL PLAN REVIEW. The plan review section of this division exists through interagency agreement with the Department of Social and Health Services. It includes the review of plans for new and remodeled hospitals, nursing homes, boarding homes for the aged, alcoholic treatment facilities, hospice care centers, residential treatment facilities for psychiatrically impaired children and youths, childbirth centers and private establishments. Plans are reviewed for all features of fire protection.

The Deputy State Fire Marshal assigned to this important function has specialized training and experience. He confers with owners, administrators, architects, and engineers in pre-design and pre-construction conferences and as needed throughout the life of the project. He operates under the general supervision of the State Fire Marshal, but receives his assignments from the Department of Social and Health Services. These assignments are then closely coordinated with the other staff consultants in the architectural, engineering, and electrical disciplines. Plans must be approved prior to construction.
